

Top 10 Cocoa Producing Countries

Cocoa has been in existence for thousands of years. West Africa produces more than 70% of the world's cocoa, which accounts for the majority of cocoa used in mass-produced chocolate. Cocoa is the primary component in chocolate and chocolate confections, and chocolate is the world's most popular sweet delicacy. Cocoa has a long and interesting history and is also used in beverages and as a flavouring ingredient.

